

Is it really “just” your hormones?

What’s a heavy period, really? Is mysterious weight gain a concern?

With conditions like polycystic ovary syndrome (PCOS) or endometriosis, many women suffer for 7–11 years before being properly diagnosed. And even more go undiagnosed.

That’s not OK.

So we built a whole new website to set the facts straight, with things like:

- A symptom checker to help you quickly figure out if something’s not right with your period
- An interactive tool that helps translate your concerns into medical terms your doc will know
- A video where women with uterine and endocrine conditions share their advice

You deserve to find answers.
We’re here to help you get started.

LittleRedLies.com/talk

Aetna is the brand name used for products and services provided by one or more of the Aetna group of companies, including Aetna Life Insurance Company and its affiliates (Aetna).

